Teacher Learner Continuum

The Teacher Learning Continuum is Tallahassee Community College’s way of describing the relationship between the learner and the teacher as the learner progresses through a series of developmental stages from a novice to a more experienced, self-directed learner. The following diagram illustrates aspects of this progression.

!Facets of Development Diagram

The following diagram displays points of contact between the student and Academic Affairs (green circle) and Student Affairs (light blue circle) as the student moves from a novice to a self-directed learner.

!Pathways Approach Diagram